Adjunct Instructor: Web Graphics

The University of Rio Grande/Rio Grande Community College is seeking applications for the position of Adjunct Instructor for the spring semester of 2015 (January 25-April 30) to teach the following course:

ART 20304 Web Graphics (4 Credit Hours) An introduction to the basics of creating graphics for the internet using Adobe Dreamweaver and Flash. Students will learn to compose and assemble text, graphics and links to create original web sites and pages. Basic principles of art and design will be emphasized. This is not a programming course, but does cover the basics of html and css. Students will purchase server space on a commercial server and publish their coursework. Prerequisites: ART 20104 Raster Graphics or knowledge of Adobe Photoshop recommended. Spring semester.

Responsibilities

- Create syllabus and lesson plans for the semester, conduct classes, evaluate students, report midterm and final grades, and other duties related to being the instructor of record for the course.
- Currently, the course is scheduled for Monday and Wednesday, 8:30-11:00 am in Fine Arts Room 134, on the Rio Grande Campus. This course may be conducted in hybrid fashion, with one of these meeting dates being conducted online. Hybrid option is contingent on the instructor submitting an acceptable proposal to the school chair detailing how the hybrid course sessions would be conducted. Mileage reimbursement for travel to the University of Rio Grande campus is not available.

Eligibility

- Applicant must have a bachelor’s degree in an appropriate area. Preference is given to those with a master’s degree, or currently enrolled in a master’s program.
- Applicant must be a US citizen, or possess a valid work visa.
- Ideally, the applicant will have 1-3 years teaching experience.

Remuneration

The instructor of this course will be paid the standard rate of $500 per load hour. This course is 5.5 hours of load for a total salary of $2,750. This amount is contingent on an enrollment of a minimum of 6 students. For enrollments below that number the total salary will be prorated, and faculty have the right to decline the position based on the reduced salary.

Application Procedure

Applications must be received by December 5, 2014 in order to be considered.

Applications must include:

1. Letter of application, describing the applicant’s interest and suitability for this position.
2. Profession resume/CV, including prior teaching experience and professional references.
3. Unofficial transcript for graduate and undergraduate education.
4. Links to websites the applicant has designed and published.
5. One-three letters of recommendation.

All materials should be sent via email to Chris Nourse, Director of Human Resources at HR@rio.edu
