The U.S. Department of Education conducts a "match" of financial aid applicants (and their parents) with other federal agencies/programs, i.e., Social Security Administration, Department of Homeland Security (DHS), Selective Service, National Student Loan Database, etc. One or more attempts by the U.S. Department of Education have identified your application as a "failed match". This occurred because information pertaining to your father (step-father), such as the date of birth and/or social security number, reported on the FAFSA did not match their records.
