Halliday OK

Rio Grande's Chapter of the Ohio Association for Higher Education unanimously passed the following resolution: "It is moved and seconded that the Rio Grande Chapter of the Ohio Association for Higher Education endorse the candidacy of Mr. John E. Halliday for Representative to the Ohio House of Representatives from the 92nd District."

According to Merrill Grodin, President of the Rio Grande Chapter, the decision to issue an endorsement followed an analysis of the voting record of the opponent which indicated election to state office would be contrary to the best interests of the State of Ohio as well as education in particular. The passage of this endorsement was completed without regard to party label and in consideration of Mr. Halliday's service record in the larger community.

"Who's Who" Selects Rio Students

By Ellen Leftwich

Fourteen Rio Grande College students have been selected to appear in the '72 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities." Fifteen Rio Grande students were selected for national publication last year.

Students honored by "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities" are among the country's most outstanding campus leaders. The Rio students were selected by a campus nominating committee and reviewed by the editors of the directory, as were students across the community.

The criteria used by the campus groups and the editorial board include academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in education and extra curricular activities, citizenship and future potential.

In addition to having appeared in the 1972 edition, students selected by "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities" receive a certificate of recognition and are eligible to utilize the organization's Students Placement Service.

Those named for this publication are: Maria De Castro, Rita DeVault, Georgina Harrison, Ronald Harris, Vincent Hill, Robert Lawson, John Martindell, Alvis Moore, Brian Raines, Ned Riegel, Peggy Sanders, Millie Thompson, Margaret Tracy and Robert Willey.

Maria DeCastro is a Rio Grande college English major with a minor in Psychology.

Politician Babbles On Makes Meeting Long

Southeastern Ohio Education Association held a series of three meetings this past month, two of which were held for the first time on the campus of Rio Grande

College. The first meeting was the legislative assembly on October 21 at Holzer Recreation Room. Representing the Rio Grande Chapter of the Ohio Association for Higher Education was delegate, Associate Professor John Graham. The legislative assembly was held separate from the annual SEOEA day for the first time in recent history. The second meeting was that of the School Masters Club held in Gallipolis on Thursday evening, October 26, under the sponsorship of the Gallipolis Teachers Association.

Approximately 2,000 educators were present on Friday, October 27, at either the General Assembly or at various sectional meetings. Among the highlights of the meeting were the many displays from book publishers and various education supply houses held in Community Hall. The SEA sponsored "Books on Exhibit" was held concurrently in the library as was the display of art for public schools contributed by Miss Shirley Mason's classes.

Particularly commendable were the excellent parking arrangements, the arrangement for food the Community Hall display. Mr. Stalnaker, Mr. Huff, Mr. Murphy, Mr. Grace and staff are especially to be commended for the preparatory work they completed to make SEOEA a success. First time visitors were tremendously impressed with the coordination and thoughtfulness of the preparations from the SEA ushers to the Rio Music people and countless others.

Possibly, the only discordant note was the excessive verbiage of the politicians, over which Rio Grande had no control, as the program was planned by an SEOEA committee that did not anticipate the politicians' time. Fortunately, the many worthwhile sectional meetings in the afternoon served to compensate for what turned out to be overly-long morning session.

Books Stolen

Nine books were found missing when "Books on Exhibit" closed October 30. The missing books are, Drugs, Two, Four, Six, Eight, When You Gonna Integrate, Growing Up With Sex, The Renaissance: Maker of Modern Man, Seeing Stars, Rookie: The World of NBA, Memoirs of a Fugitive - America's First and Uses of Marijuana.

Over twelve hundred of the latest books for libraries and public schools were on display at Rio Grande College in the Davis Library. The Collection was sponsored by the Rio Grande Chapter of the Student Education Association.

Kevin Lee, President Elect of the Rio Grande SEA and Chairman of the display — a sophomore from Columbus, Ohio, indicated that the book exhibit was brought to Rio Grande College from Jersey City State College to coincide with the

Guest Editorial

(Ed. Note: I am replacing my usual editorial comment with this which I feel, effectively expresses the student reaction to a bad situation.)

October 10, 1972 was the last day to register for this fall's elections. Many people got registered without any trouble. Some, on the other hand, got registered with much verbal confrontation by the people who are in charge of the Gallia County Board of Elections. I am referring in the latter statement to the Rio Grande College students who tried to register.

Two recent legal changes put a different meaning on the rules and regulations for registering to vote in Gallia County. One is the right of the 18-year-old to vote in national, state, and local elections. As a result of this action, it naturally increases the number of voters eligible to register in this country.

Secondly, the rule issued by the Third District Court of Appeals permits college students to vote in the area in which they attend school. The court defined temporary residency as "a residence which is acquired for a temporary period of time is sufficiently permanent to justify it as a voting residence if the applicant for registration has no present intention of making another place of residence his permanent place of abode."

In accordance with the law a college student has every right to register to vote in the area of that college in which he or she is enrolled. The question is, Why have Rio Grande College students been discriminated against in their effort to register in Gallia County when students at Ohio University and Ohio State University have been registering without any problem?

Some students did get registered because they defended and demanded their legal right to be registered. Others got the run-around, became discouraged and refused to put up with the petty, childish harassment handed out by the Gallia County Board of Elections.

It is popular these days to criticize college students who stand up for what they believe is right, as in the case of the registration of the RGC students. Many people have criticized college students for demonstrating for what they think is right. However, the charge has been that demonstrations are not the Democratic way of doing things. Please note that there was no demonstration by RGC students, just concerned citizens wanting their rights upheld by being registered so they would be able to vote within the designated precinct in Gallia County. When conscientious young voters are harassed, is not the Democratic process we value so much being stifled?

The people working at the Board of Elections suggested to the RGC students who live in Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton, Ohio, etc. that they should drive there on election day to vote. This is not only impractical but unreasonable and ridiculous.

Of course, there are those who will be voting by absentee ballot, which is an individual's personal decision. However, the ruling by the Third District Court of Appeals makes the absentee ballot outmoded. After all, in our highly technological world, convenience has become a paramount demand of our citizens. Banks make it convenient for their customers to get to the banks by building branches around town. Many retail merchants make available plenty of parking space for their customers for "convenience" sake.

Doesn't it stand to reason that this is the way voting and registration should be carried out as designated by the Third District Court of Appeals for convenience in voting? This enables many people to vote as a result of convenience and in the final analysis our political system will be strengthened just as a business is strengthened economically by providing convenient shopping and parking for their customers.

There is a possibility that the names of college students who have registered to vote in Gallia County might not be sent to the designated precinct where the RGC students would vote. If this should occur, it could be a very irrational and radical step to be taken by the board of elections.

For if this does happen, it is a clear sign of an authoritarian action by the board of elections, and this, I might add, is not working within the Democratic system. In our society many subscribe to the philosophy that "If you work within the law that the law will work for you; if you work against the law, then the law will work against you."

The RGC students are working within the law so I am confident that the law will work for them. Whether one agrees or disagrees with the law dealing with the right of college students to vote in this county is beside the point. One can change that law if he or she disagrees with it, but in the meantime it is the duty, and moral obligation of the Gallia County Board of Elections to complete the registration of the Rio Grande College Students.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Many people have been realizing that there is a tint of racial apathy between blacks and whites in Rio Grande and would rather have things this way. But now there is an acute awareness of the problems of the blacks and whites of Rio Grande. But, again, it is an impersonal awareness, and more and more, it is tinged with irritation at the thought that the integration movement will impinge on the daily personal life of each other.

Nor are the blacks in Rio Grande immune from apathy toward one another or toward whites. Many are apathetic toward one another's right to believe and act as they please. It is wonderful that the blacks of Rio Grande, have a place to better understand their Black Heritage and to involve themselves in the total black feeling. It is becoming evident, now more than ever, that one man's concept of proper action is labeled with the group epithet "Uncle Tom." And until the recent upsurge of the integration movement, there was little consideration to become united as one, helping each other to attain the goals they wish. I believe, that only under certain situations and only in response to certain reflexes or certain beliefs will a man step out of his shell toward his brother.

Our goal should be, at Rio Grande, to restore the individual to his formal dignity as a human being.

This is our urgent need of the day.

Mike Waddle

Dear Unaccountables:

Last week we entertained, for the first time, the Southeastern Ohio Education Association. When, about a year ago, the idea was suggested, I had some misgivings whether or not we had the facilities for such a crowd. I knew we had the human capabilities.

Well, you did it! I have chosen this method to thank all who made it a success. Of course, we made some mistakes — none, however, which cannot be corrected for future events. Please consider this a personal "thank you".

Here are some comments I heard from visitors: "People here care"; "I could find a parking place"; "Everyone is so cooperative."

I understand the SOEA wants to come back again — concrete evidence of a job well done. Thanks again.

Sincerely yours,
Alphus R. Christensen,
President

Letter to the Editor:

I would like to sincerely extend my appreciation to those students, staff and faculty members who volunteered their services during the sectional high school cross-country meet recently hosted by Rio Grande College. Without the loyal support of people like you, it would be impossible for us to host an event such as this.

Thanks for a job well done by the Rio Grande family.

Sincerely,
Arthur W. Lanham
Meet Manager

Fellow Students of Rio Grande College:

This letter has one basic purpose, and that is to inform you that I, as Chairman of Student Activities Committee, feel there is a lack of support by students of the Activities Committee this semester, possibly due to the fact that you are not aware of what's happening with your committee. In the past there may have been a lack of interest or support because there wasn't much to get behind. The budget was rather small, organization was rather poor, etc. However, this semester that has changed, and from here on things are going to continue to improve, I hope, if we work together.

I attended an N.E.C. (National Entertainment Conference) convention Oct. 22 and 23 in order to find out how to best serve you, the student body, and also to find possible solutions to problems I am encountering as I go along. I sought suggestions for improving our programs of entertainment here at Rio. I feel that the convention was extremely worthwhile, and I hope to make suggestions to the committee members as we go on.

The Activities Committee attempting to present programs of entertainment each semester will satisfy some at one time and another and hopefully everyone sooner or later. We realize that cannot please everyone all the time, but that's the way it goes. We could, we would, but that's being a bit idealistic, right?

The committee consists of voting members (Cindy Anderson, Sandy Hunter, Ron Harris, Pam Jenkins) who make decisions of what's to happen at the chairman who makes arrangements for those selected programs to happen as successfully as possible. That's the way we function at present, believe me, it's a big job for all of us, but we continue simply because we feel the students of Rio Grande College deserve the best.

No Stamps Necessary

A real Jesus person is one who has not only learned the secret of power through prayer, but also the value and power of praise.

Praise is worship. To praise is to glorify God. The act of praise is rendering honor unto God.

"It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord, and to sing praises unto Thy name, O most high." (Psalms 92: ).

Nothing can multiply faith as praising God. Praise causes us to lift our eyes to God and get them off of our problems. There is no faster way to route the enemy than to enter into the courts of praise.

"Serve the Lord with gladness: come before His presence with singing. Enter into the gates with thanksgiving, and into His courts with praise: be thankful unto Him and bless His name." (Psalms 100:24)

Praise is the author of the redeemed, the language of the jubilant heart. When you get the heart to learn to praise. It will cause a fountain of joy to spring up in your heart.

The Bible is full of stories of men who conquered through the power of praise. Paul and Silas prayed and sang praises in prison and God used an earthquake to bring deliverance. (Acts 16:25) The wall of Jericho fell down flat at the victorious shout of praise (Joshua 6:20).

Praise is the divine catharsis. Nothing so cheers the heart and clears the mind and purges the emotions as praise. There is nothing like praise to generate blessing, to propel our souls toward God and to prepare us for His presence.

Suggesting Bible Readings: 1 Thessalonians 5:18, Hebrews 13:15, Psalms 107:8, Psalms 18:3, Psalms 68:19. Try it ... you'll love it!!!

Bloodmobile Returns To Rio

The support of the Rio Grande community is solicited for the forthcoming Rio Grande Bloodmobile on Monday, November 13, 1972, from 12:15 through 5:30 p.m. Support may be achieved by either participating as a blood donor yourself, or by encouraging or by facilitating others to do the same. Those unable for medical or physical reasons to contribute can serve the cause of the blood donor program by encouraging others or aiding in loading, unloading equipment, loan of typewriters and typing services and encouraging a group to donate blood.

Although the Rio Grande community has a blood coverage contract through April 7 of 1973, an attempt will be made to lengthen this coverage through November 1973. This would mean coverage for the entire community and also for the specific families of Students and staff giving blood on November 13.

The Rio Grande Bloodmobile visit of the Gallia County American Red Cross is a semi-annual visitation over and above the six times yearly visit of the Bloodmobile to Gallipolis. Donors for their own physical well-being may not contribute more frequently than once every 56 days.

The co-chairwomen of the Rio Grande visit will be Mrs. Bess Call, representing the Community, and Karen Coker, representing the Class of 1974.

Last Wednesday the Class of 1974 Council held the initial planning session for the visit. Those attending the meeting included Mrs.

Call, Sarah Winters, Mr. Stephan Elberfeld, Thomas Kramer, Janet Fuchs, Jeri McCormick, Nancy Detty and Linda Taylor, Sandra Carver, and Mrs. Wendell Evans.

Organizations that have indicated support for the visit are Lambda Omicron Psi, Kayettes, Rio Grande Garden Club, Raccoon Township Trustees, Open Gate Garden Club, Southwestern High School, Alpha Delta Epsilon, the Faculty Women's Association and students of the Medical Laboratory Technology program.

Special emphasis should be made to enlist first-time donors, particularly freshmen and those in Raccoon Township outside the Rio Grande Community. It is hoped that service groups and other interested parties will volunteer to recruit freshmen and other potential donors.

It is anticipated that, for the first time, the entire operation of Blood Donor Day will be by Rio Grande College and community personnel, except for the Huntington Tri-State Red Cross Blood Center personnel. Even the attending physician will be our own Dr. Francis Shane, President of the Board of Trustees of Rio Grande College.

Remember the blood you give may save yourself, your neighbor or a relative's life.

MORE LETTERS

Dear Editor:

I am writing in response to the letter (with no name) you received in your mailbox concerning the "Guest Editorial" which appeared in the Signals two weeks ago today. My article, as you may recall, was about the social situation that exists between Black and White students. Since the letter that was written to you asked three different things concerning the Black Student Center, I will now elaborate on those questions.

One question was, who owns the Black Student Center? Well, the Black Student Center is really owned by the college. The maintenance and upkeep of the center is in the hands of the Black students. The next question was, is it open to the white public to frequent? Well, the answer to this is simply yes... except when the Black students are conducting a meeting. Also, admittance of white students is greatly encouraged during special functions that will be of interest to everyone. These special functions will consist of seminars, open house and confrontations. The center is open at all times to all Rio Grande College administrative personnel.

And lastly a question was brought up as to what are the rules and philosophy of Black Student Center? The Black Student Center will serve as an educational center, and will function as a Black library. The Center will serve as an asset in the recruiting of Black students. The Center will also serve as a means of unifying the Black students, and as a realization of what Blackness is all about. The college's policy of governing the Student Center also governs the Black Student Center.

The Rio Grande College Handbook policy governing narcotics, alcohol, the hours of women, and firearms are in effect on the premises of the Black Student Center. I hope I answered those questions adequately for those concerned students who wrote that letter to the editor. It pleases me immensely to see the inquisitiveness of a few students, and hope that if you have any future questions that you will confront me in person. Also, your letter was not in the paper because you didn't sign your name(s).

Sincerely yours,
Lloyd Brewton

Poll Grounds McGovern

By Lloyd Brewton

Two Presidential surveys were held on two separate dates (Oct. 25 and Nov. 1) here on campus, and both polls indicated that President Nixon won both election polls.

The survey was held by Mr. Porter's Political Parties and Pressure Group class. The purpose of the campus poll was to see if the views of RGC students and faculty members reflected the opinions of the people in the nation. Ocie Thompson, who headed the survey group, stated that the turnout of the voting was low, and if he's correct, Nixon will win the national election by a wide margin.

John Schmidt was on the ballot and received votes for the American Independent Party ticket. On the second election poll, George Wallace and Dick Gregory were write-in choices. Many of the students and faculty members who voted on the first ballot placed the economy of the nation as the main topic of the election, with the Vietnam war and defense running second and third respectively.

Since the first election, there has been much talk about the settlement of peace in Vietnam, and when the second poll was held on campus, voters placed the Vietnam situation as the main issue of this up-coming election. A majority of the voters, the poll showed, were between the ages of 18-21, with the second greatest grouping between 22-28, and some heavy showing between the ages of 36-45 (hopefully these people were faculty members).

Ocie felt that the young voters, even with the right to vote, don't actively participate in the political process, which may lead to sound reasons for Nixon's possible re-election. Another thing that the survey showed was that on the basis of the people's choice, President Nixon was chosen as the lesser of two evils (between himself and McGovern).

Will You Self-Destruct?

The Life Action Singers, an enthusiastic company of young entertainers with a religious message, presented a program of inspirational and patriotic music to Lyne Center's Convocation audience Wednesday. Their selections, including "America the Beautiful" and "This is My Country," were accompanied by color slides.

Ed Hindson, associate director of Life Action Inc., struck a more sober note when he spoke to the assembly about the mounting incidence of suicide among teenagers. In 1971 there were 100,000 suicides in the 12-20 age bracket. Unbelievable? Maybe, but according to the best estimates 13 American teenagers end their life every hour. Youth's "greatest problem is not drugs or revolution, but suicide," said Hindson.

He proceeded to discuss the eight progressive stages of the "pre-suicidal syndrome." The potential victim usually experiences a series of "internal conflicts" and exhibits characteristic "visible symptoms." Too often, said Mr. Hindson, parents, teachers, and religious counselors are concerned only with visible symptoms and fail to understand or treat the underlying causes.

The Life Action Singers are from St. Petersburg, Fla., where Mr. Hindson and a partner established their sponsoring organization, Life Action Inc., in 1971. Nine singers, one children's workers, and eight technical assistants travel 35,000 miles each year, helping in church crusades and making about 100 college and high school appearances. All the singers are between 19 and 24, but come from differing religious backgrounds and different states. "All we have in common," said one, "is our love for Christ."

What do the singers accomplish? Their purpose, according to Hindson, is to help teenagers bridge the generation gap, alert teens to problems confronting them, and (through church crusades) to "help bring people into a closer relationship with Christ." Says Hindson, "We have been well received and extremely successful."

Course Stresses Field Work

By RAY MATURA

Social Problems Lab 343 will be offered next semester. The major portion of the course is field work. Students will be prepared for first hand observation and involvement in a special social problem area. The course is required for a minor in Sociology and a major in social work. Prerequisite for the course is Social Problems 323. There is an additional $150 assessment to cover costs of travel, food, and housing. The field work will be done next semester during Spring Break.

Due to the nature of the course and the preparation necessitated all those students who contemplate registering for the course are asked to attend a meeting Wednesday, Nov. 8 during the convocation period at 2:20 p.m. in the cafeteria. The meeting's intent is to express student interest and solve initial problems. This will be the third time this course has been offered at Rio Grande. Previously, students went to Barboursville and Louisville, Ky., and Harrisburg, Pa. to observe: Appalachian poverty program, ghettos, and prison alternatives. This allows students an opportunity to actually see social problems, rather than experiencing them second hand.

The course also permits students to observe and evaluate how our society deals with social problems.

Don't forget Wednesday, Nov. 8, at the cafeteria during convocation. If you cannot attend, contact Ray Matura prior to the meeting.

Quatrochi and Persin then teamed up for a 75-yard scoring pass. Persin ran in the extra points. Persin threw his second TD pass as Simonelli held on to a 40-yarder. Quatrochi ran in the extra points. Persin scored the Reefers' final touchdown on a one-yard thrust. McKeon ran in the extra points.

The J's scored their points as Steve Herrington connected with Jim Chapman for a 60-yarder, and later Herrington hit Bob Snouffer on a 50-yard scoring pass. Barry Stamm ran in the extra points.

Because of this game the Reefers finished the season with a 7-2 record, and the J's finished the season with a 6-3 record.

In the playoff game for third place, the Jets won by forfeit as the New Yorkers failed to test the weather. Because of the forfeit, the Jets ended the season with a 5-4 record, while the New Yorkers ended with a 4-5 slate.

The Reefers had a strong hold on fifth place as they finished the season with an unblemished (?) record of 0-8.

The Intramural Department wishes to thank all who participated this past season, in particular to the players, coaches, and officials.

entertainment we can possibly provide.

Maybe the problem is really one of lack of communication. However, due to the size of Rio Grande College this problem should not exist as it seems to at present among students and between students and faculty. Therefore, I hope I have been able to clear up a bit of the problem here.

We are open to suggestions (each of them is considered) and we would like to encourage interested students to attend our meetings at 8 p. m. each Monday night above the Student Center.

LET'S GET INVOLVED — LET'S GET IT TOGETHER. Remember ...IT'S FOR YOU!!!
